WILD ANIMALS of AFRICA

NUMBER 2

The LION

This is one of a series of information features in Gold Key Comics. Collect the whole series for useful knowledge.

In ancient times Lions were found in western Asia. Assyrian and Babylonian princes hunted them from chariots, using arrows.

The lion will kill only for food. The male stampedes the prey toward his mate waiting in ambush. Claw and fang finish the hunt.

Ruler of the plains and the brush country, the lion may be 12 ft. long and may weigh 400 lbs. Swift and strong, he is truly King of beasts.

Lions gather in family groups or "prides." The parents are good providers. The female teaches her maturing cubs how to hunt prey.

At the age of 20, the lion's teeth are usually worn down. Weak from age and illness, he soon becomes the prey of other predators.

TRICK OR TREAT?

WOODCHOPPER'S BALL

a fractured fairy tale

ONCE UPON A TIME, DEEP IN THE HEART OF THE FOREST, LIVED A FREE LANCE WOODCHOPPER AND HIS BEAUTIFUL STEPDAUGHTER, URSULA.

URSULA WAS MOST UNHAPPY...

WHY'S A SWEET BEAUTIFUL KID LIKE ME DOING IN A DUMP LIKE THIS?

FOR HER STEPFATHER WAS VERY CRUEL...

URSULA! AIN'T YOU GOT NO AXES TO CHOP?

HOO BOY! HAVE I!!

FOR NO PAY I CHOP DOWN TREES, GRIND AXES AND MAKE KINDLING WOOD-- I TOTE THAT BARGE AND LIFT THAT BALE--

AS AN ACTRESS YOU MAKE A GREAT WOODSMAN--

SOB!

BACK TO WORK!

CRUEL STEPFATHER IS RIGHT I'M A BIG BEAUTIFUL NOTHING

I'LL JUST VENT MY FRUSTRATIONS ON THIS TREE!

SOME TIME LATER, BACK IN THE BACK OF THE FOREST...

AND THE WITCH SET HER PLANS INTO ACTION.

SHE SOON HAD CUSTOMERS...

BUT HERMAN PRINCE HAD THE BIGGEST PROBLEM.

ALONE HE WANDERED THE CITY'S STREETS...

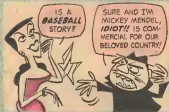

A MORAL TO ALL THIS?

--AND FOR URSILLA...

Folks in California have a great sense of humor. When a gunman held up a grocery store in Fresno, he masked his face with trading stamps. So help me!

In case you've been wondering, an ornithologist from the Smithsonian Institution has just discovered that the Purple Grackle preens its feathers with an acid extracted from walnuts!

Jellyfish are 95 per cent water and 4 per cent salt. But Japanese folks have found a way of drying, preserving and cooking the remaining 1 per cent!

Here is the latest item from the proposed national budget! Scientists are asking for $1,200,000 to find out why infant monkeys love their mothers.

Over in England there's a fellow who played the piano for more than five days, non-stop! He played more than 3,000 pieces and claims he broke the record.

You kiddies who are interested in becoming astronauts better read this item first. A California scientist is suggesting that astronauts be frozen in suspended animation for long trips to other galaxies.

Among the many products they make from wood are yeast, alcohol, glue, plastics—and even vanilla flavoring for ice-cream! Better watch out for splinters the next time you order a sundae!

Pigs have their troubles too! College researchers report that worried porkers can get ulcers just like us humans.

One drugstore chain guarantees speedy service at its lunch counters. If they don't serve your order within four minutes your meal is on the house!

Most of the world's milk comes from cows but investigators tell us that mankind also uses milk from horses, sheep, goats, donkeys, reindeer, camels, llamas, yaks and even water buffaloes!

Fellow taxpayers arise! A late bulletin from Washington reports that the Treasury Department is burning money. They often destroy $25,000,000 a day in worn-out bills, of course.

When New York hired a new traffic commissioner, he left the family car back in Baltimore! He claimed there was no place to park in the big town.

So you think the auto has replaced the horse, hey? Well, latest reports reveal that auto traffic in the heart of London averages six miles per hour. Back in 1908 horse-drawn traffic moved at better than 14 mph! How about that!

A restaurant in Alaska features a bowl of clam chowder for 50 cents! You can get a "Texas-size" cup of chowder for 25 cents.

To protect its messengers against attack a London banking house is supplying them with shock-resistant, dent-proof derbies.

An Arkansas drive-in movie has installed a battery of washing machines! Customers can watch the feature and then pick up their laundry after the show.

An English dental expert has estimated that 20 per cent of all kids walk around with their mouths open! No wonder it's so noisy.

The HIPPOPOTAMUS

This behemoth weighs up to 4 tons, but he can float like a log. The hippo can seal his nostrils and walk along the lake bottom.

The hippo has the largest mouth of all land mammals. Bulls often fight each other. Their sickle-shaped teeth make fearsome weapons.

The water-loving hippopotamus inhabits the African rivers and lakes. Feeding on roots and grasses it can devour 100 lbs. per day.

The hippo is a hard animal. The baby hippo, though able to swim soon after birth, often rides its mother's back while in the water.

Hippos are among the most popular animals in our zoos. They breed easily in captivity, and most hippos on exhibit were born in zoos.
